

CONTENTS

MARC J. RATCLIFF - DARIO GENERALI, Writing the history of "microscopy" in the twenty-first century	Pag.	V
Acknowledgements	»	XV

PART I

MAKERS AND MICROSCOPE MARKETS DURING THE ANCIEN RÉGIME

MICHELA FAZZARI, Incredibili visioni: Roma e i microscopi alla fine del '600	»	3
INGE KEIL, Microscopes made in Augsburg	»	43
FRANCESCO LUZZINI, Antonio Vallisneri e la questione dei vermicelli spermatici: un'indagine storico-naturalistica	»	73
MARC J. RATCLIFF - MARIAN FOURNIER, Abraham Trembley's impact on the construction of microscopes	»	91
ALBERTO LUALDI, Microscope makers in eighteenth-century northern Italy	»	113
MARC J. RATCLIFF, Testing microscopes between market and scientific strategies	»	135

PART II

SCIENTIFIC USERS OF THE MICROSCOPE AND THEIR RELATIONSHIPS WITH MAKERS

FRANCESCO ANDRIETTI, Optical design in seventeenth-century Italian compound microscopes: a technical account	»	157
---	---	-----

CONTENTS

GIANNI MICHELI, Malpighi e il microscopio della natura	Pag.	191
MARIAN FOURNIER, Personal styles in microscopy: Leeuwenhoek, Swammerdam and Huygens	»	211
DARIO GENERALI, L'uso del microscopio in Vallisneri	»	231
JUTTA SCHICKORE, 'The Most Signal and Illustrious Instance of the Use of the Microscope'. Benjamin Martin on the insect eye	»	271
MARIA TERESA MONTI, Gli «animaluzzi» di Bonaventura Corti: microscopia spallanzaniana o alternativa d'eccellenza?	»	289
Index of names	»	325